

FRIDAY EVENING, DEC. 20, 1907.

THE advisability of a curtailment of production by the cotton mills during January and February was discussed in Boston on Wednesday at a meeting of the officials of the leading cotton textile plants in New England. A limited curtailment has been in effect in New Bedford, Mass., and Manville, R. I., for some time. The cotton mills in Ware, Taunton, Dorrville, Palmer, Mass., and in Greenville and New Ipswich, N. H., are running on short time. The employees of the cotton mills of Lonsdale & Goodnow and of the factory of H. H. Mayhew, were informed at Shelburne Falls, Mass., Wednesday that the shops would be shut down until January 6. Both concerns have been running on short time, due to the falling off in orders. Four hundred employees are affected. The Corset Woven Company announces that its mills at Mapleville, R. I. will be closed next Tuesday night until January 2. About three hundred hands are employed by the company. Such a condition of affairs is extending throughout the country and at present there is little prospect of an early improvement.

THE SCENE yesterday in the House of Representatives between Representatives John Sharp Williams and David A. DeArmond is regretted by the many thousands they represent in Congress. Doubtless the principals themselves by this time equally regret the hasty words which culminated in a personal conflict in the Capitol of the nation. From the published accounts of the colloquy which ended in blows, it would seem that the Missouri was at fault, as the words he used toward Mr. Williams were hasty and unparliamentary, and calculated to bring about a breach of the peace at any place and under any conditions. The good book calls attention to the fact that the tongue, though a little member, is exceedingly hard to tame. Mr. DeArmond and Mr. Williams probably realize this truth as well as others, and it is hoped both will profit by their experience.

AS WAS stated in the Gazette of that day the third mine disaster since the first of the month occurred yesterday. The last casualty was in the Darr mine of the Pittsburgh, Pa., Coal Company, near Jacob's Creek. Yesterday's catastrophe by which about 250 miners are estimated to have been killed, was the worst in the history of the industry. The mine was situated in the vicinity of the mine and the condition of the new bodies found early in the rescue work indicate an explosion of such terrific force that it seems impossible that any one could have survived it. All of the bodies that have been taken out are terribly mutilated, and three are headless.

"LET us do away with all this affinity talk," said Rev. W. A. Bartlett in his sermon at the First Congregational Church in Chicago last Sunday night. "Teachers of the affinity doctrine should be publicly horsewhipped and driven from the society of decent people." Continuing he made this apt inquiry: "If a girl has no depth of character and is a simpering, gun-chewing proposition, who talks and thinks of nothing but clothes, amusements and creased trousers, who foundation have you for a home? And if the young man is more concerned about the color of a necktie he wears than the great matter of life, and chooses a girl because she can give him a gay time, how far will he be willing to sacrifice when sickness, trouble or children come?"

From Washington.

Intermediaries are today attempting to smooth down the ruffled feathers of Mr. John Sharp Williams and Judge DeArmond. Neither man today shows any ill effects from the fist fight in which they indulged on the floor of the House yesterday afternoon when DeArmond passed the lie in a discussion about committee appointments and Williams "took it up." Williams has a scratch on his forehead and under one eye. The Missouri has a few particles of skin missing from the bridge of his nose. Bad blood had been existing for some time between the two, and unless the volunteer peacekeepers are experts in their profession, a serious split in the minority ranks may develop. Judge DeArmond, it is said, believes that Williams not only insulted him first, but, by inference, made him out a falsifier before he passed the lie. If there is no trace declared Judge DeArmond, it is understood, will not let the difficulty interfere with his duties. He was selected by Williams as second democratic member on rule committee. He did not seek this appointment himself, and will not resign. If he goes off, it will be with Williams' action, and it is doubtful if Williams will take this step. Military dictators are effectively strangled in Central America by the additional convention to the general treaty which was formally signed by the delegates of the peace conference today. It is believed that the convention will

News of the Day.

Edward Clefford, a youth, was hanged at Peoria, Ill., today for murdering his father. Minister of Commerce Filchakoff died during a gala performance in a St. Petersburg theatre last night. Troops have begun the eviction of 4,800 families in Naples from working class dwellings belonging to the Società Del Risparmio.

Wu Ting-fang, the new Chinese ambassador to the United States, started yesterday from Peking for Shanghai, whence he will sail for Washington. It was announced in Baltimore yesterday that a cure had been found for dementia praecox, a form of insanity, by Dr. N. M. Owensby, of the Bayview Insane Asylum.

Sixteen horses and two mules were asphyxiated in Chicago today. A gas valve was torn off by a malicious person. Heretofore horses have been victims of a pyromaniac.

President Roosevelt's influence was felt at the meeting of the republican county committee in New York last night when the resolution endorsing Gov. Hughes was put off until a subsequent date.

Representative Sims yesterday introduced in the House a bill providing for the construction of a temporary over-head trolley line from the intersection of Delaware avenue and C street to the Union Station. O. Hauge, the Norwegian Minister to the United States, died yesterday while on a snowshoe trip in Norway. He was married in 1904 to Mrs. Louis Todd Joy, of Louisville, Ky., one of the wealthiest women in the Blue Grass State.

In the House yesterday a resolution was introduced by Mr. Garrity, of Tennessee, calling for information from the Secretary of Commerce and Labor about the steel trust's control of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company, and a bill was introduced by Mr. Scott, of Kansas, prohibiting dealing in grain futures.

Masonic circles of Newark, N. J., were interested yesterday when it was announced that Grand Master Austin H. McGregor, of the Grand Lodge of New Jersey, had suspended the charter of the Trinitarian Lodge of Newark, for permitting the facts concerning a recent lodge election to get into the public press.

J. H. Healy, of Ansonville, N. C., one of the best known men in Anson county and postmaster of the town, shot and killed himself yesterday with a pistol, placing the muzzle of the gun in his mouth and firing as he saw a post-office inspector enter his store. Financial difficulties and despondency caused the suicide. He was forty-five years of age and father of seven children. He had been in business at Ansonville for about twenty-five years.

By an almost unanimous vote the republican committee of New York last night refused to adopt a resolution endorsing Governor Hughes for the republican presidential nomination. When the resolution was offered a motion was immediately introduced providing that the resolution go over for consideration at the next meeting of the committee in January. This motion was adopted with a shout that could be heard outside the committee room.

Miss Madeline DuPont, aged twenty, eldest daughter of Alfred I. DuPont, millionaire vice president of the DuPont Powder Company, of Wilmington, Del., yesterday eloped from Washington with John Bancroft, aged twenty-one, son of John Bancroft, secretary of the Joseph Bancroft & Sons Company, who is also a wealthy man. The couple, who were accompanied by several friends, were married by Rev. Dr. C. MacLeod, a Presbyterian clergyman, at the National Capital.

Ten thousand working men may march to the Capitol in Washington early in January to protest to Senators and Representatives against the present injunction laws and to appeal to Congress for amendments curtailing the present injunctive powers of the courts. This movement results from the position in which labor unions find themselves on account of the injunction against them issued yesterday by Justice Gould, prohibiting the publishing of the names of firms in the federation's unfair list, and which, according to the Court's opinion, amounts to a boycott.

A terrific explosion occurred yesterday evening in the military powder magazine near Palermo, Sicily, where a large quantity of dynamite was stored. This was followed by a number of lesser explosions. The whole town was shaken and the people thrown into a panic. Almost immediately flames spread to the ruins of houses that had fallen, adding greatly to the terror. It is estimated that about 25 persons are killed and a hundred others injured. Several houses that stood above the magazine partially collapsed, and their destruction was completed by the fire. One of these was an emigrants' lodging house, and a number of emigrants were killed.

Coffin To Be Opened. London, Dec. 20.—T. C. Druce's coffin will be opened within a fortnight. Upon what is found inside will depend the outcome of one of the most remarkable legal battles ever fought in England. The struggle has been pending for years and by opening the coffin it might have been settled at any time. Druce's son, Herbert, refused to permit this, however. The courts upheld him. If the coffin really proves to contain lead G. H. Druce will have established an overwhelming case. If Druce's corpse is inside there will be wholesale prosecutions of his witnesses.

Take DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills. They are for weak back, inflammation of the bladder, backache and weak kidneys. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co.

The Market. Georgetown, Dec. 20.—Wheat 90¢. Badly mixed Up. Abraham Brown, of Winterton, N. Y., had a very remarkable experience; he says: "I do not get badly mixed up over me; one said heart disease; two called it kidney trouble; the fourth, blood poison; and the fifth stomach and liver trouble; but none of them helped me; so my wife advised trying DeWitt's Kidney Pills, which are restoring me to perfect health. One bottle did me more good than all the doctors prescribed." Guaranteed for blood poison, weak eyes and all stomach, liver and kidney complaints, by all druggists, fifty cents.

DIED. On Thursday, December 19, at 5:45 p. m., ENOS W. HAMILTON, son of the late Charles B. Hamilton, of Hamilton, London county, aged 82 years and 10 months. Funeral from the residence of his brother-in-law, E. H. Janney, in Fairfax county, tomorrow, Saturday, afternoon at 2 o'clock. Friends invited. Interment private, in Ivy Hill Cemetery.

Virginia News.

Mrs. Russell, wife of Dr. Charles F. Russell, of Herndon, died a few days ago. She was sixty years of age.

William Stant, said to be the most daring oyster pirate in Virginia, was captured yesterday while dredging in Hampton Roads.

The corporation commission has taken no action in the matter of the Fredericksburg and Southern railroad, for which a charter is being asked by gentlemen in that city.

The reports of the receiver for the People's Bank of Portsmouth and the auditors who examined the books show that the affairs of the institution are in a chaotic condition.

The following postoffices in Virginia have been advanced to presidential classes: Broadway, $1,100; College Park, $1,100; Dry Fork, $1,300; New Market, $1,100; Stone Gap, $1,000.

John T. Tyner, manager of the National Seal Works, shot himself in the head, in the basement of his place of business in Richmond, at an early hour yesterday morning. The cause of the attempted suicide is a mystery.

Mrs. Susan Dorr Dickinson, widow of George M. Dickinson, of Charlottesville, N. H., and aunt of Col. Joseph E. Willard, a member of the Virginia corporation commission, died Wednesday night in the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. C. C. Willard, in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. James Swart, of Lenah, Loudoun county, announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Ellen Swart, to William Tulosa Costello, of Prince William county. The ceremony will be performed at high noon in the Little River Church, near Lenah.

Messrs. Davis & Davis, Washington patent attorneys, report the grant, this week, to citizens of this State, of the following patents: Edward C. Beverage, of Montgomery, nut-lock; Charles B. Ford and J. N. Wood, of Richmond, vending machine; Boniface A. Graberger, of Richmond, clamp-setting machine.

Cal. William E. Outshaw, City Engineer of Richmond, who had been ill for several weeks, died last night. His death was due to a general breakdown. Col. Outshaw was a gallant soldier of the Confederacy, and he was associated with the Richmond Howitzers. It was while serving in the army that he received the wound which maimed him for life.

The dead body of David N. Hufford was found yesterday near a Norfolk and Western Railway bridge, in the vicinity of Palaski. Suspicious circumstances connected with the case caused the coroner's jury to adjourn over till today. Hufford was foreman of a furnace for the Bertha Mineral Company, and had been in the service of that concern thirty years.

Alfred Clarke, the young animal trainer with the Ferris Wild Animal Arena, now playing in Richmond, who was attacked and lacerated until almost dead by the lion Sultan in the arena Wednesday night, was said by his physicians last night to be slightly improved. They believe that the man has now a chance to recover if bloodpoisoning does not set in.

M. P. Falcher, a candidate for the State legislature in the last election, was burned to death in a fire which destroyed his home on the edge of Floyd county at an early hour yesterday. The body of Falcher was cremated in the ruins. Falcher was sixty years of age and lived entirely alone in a sparsely settled community. The origin of the fire is unknown.

It is rumored that a well-known business man of Washington, D. C., has contracted for the controlling interest in three of the most famous springs of Virginia, and that the springs, with their hotels, are to become the property of the Fountains Company, a million-dollar corporation now being formed by a syndicate. These properties are to be improved, and to be advertised as the "Fountains of Youth."

The State Corporation has imposed a fine of $100 on the Atlantic Coast Line for alleged persistent disregard of the demurrage rules in Richmond, and has ordered that the money be paid within sixty days, or an execution will issue. It is said that still another case of the same kind is being prepared against the Coast Line company. The offense is its failure to pay the penalties imposed for non-observance of the car-service rules.

Miss Fannie Young, aged about twenty-five, attempted suicide at her home in Danville Wednesday night, by drinking kerosene, after which she rushed into the room where her father, Haley Young, and other members of the family were sitting, and threw the empty kerosene bottle on the floor. She soon became unconscious, but her life was saved by prompt medical attention. The cause of the attempted suicide is unknown.

Mrs. Pearl E. Bagby, a young woman living near the National Cemetery, just outside of Richmond, was attacked by a negro yesterday afternoon while returning from Richmond. The negro seized her pocketbook and attempted to wrench it from her hand. Mrs. Bagby held on to it until the negro drew a razor and gave her an ugly gash across the wrist which disabled her right hand. Mounted men secured the neighborhood without finding any trace of the miscreant.

Poebontas, the only point in the Ninth Congressional district of Virginia where whisky is legally sold, voted on the saloon in a local option election yesterday by a majority of ten votes. Women paraded the streets and pleaded with voters to cast their ballots for the 'dry' ticket. There is a possibility that the election will be declared null and void on account of the statute providing that no local option election shall be held within thirty days of any other regular election.

Jerre Bunting yesterday tendered his resignation as president of the city council of Bristol, and also as police magistrate. This was done by agreement of counsel and as an acceptable alternative in the case of complaint against him that he has accepted and used free transportation from the Bristol Belt Line Railway Company in violation of the constitutional provision governing this matter. Bunting's attorney admitted that his client has received and used free transportation and that he had, therefore, forfeited his official position. It is stated that the resignation of another member of the Bristol city council, who is charged with having accepted free transportation on the electric railroad, will be forthcoming.

Lucky Purchase. New York, Dec. 20.—Had 14-year-old Louis Hukell, only had $3 last Saturday night he might have purchased the whole $32,000 worth of Alfred H. Smith & Company's lost gems from his friend, Pete Baccellini, and would have saved the police a world of trouble. The $3,000 pearl necklace he was able to buy with his lone quarter helps, of course, it furnishes a clue. But what worries the police is the fear that Pete has fallen into the hands of persons who know more than he or Louis concerning the value of gems, because in that case the rest of the $32,000 worth of treasure may not be offered for the same bargain-counter prices again. Then Pete exhibited the rest of his stock and tried to sell out for $3, but Louis said he had no more money to waste. Pete proposed to dispose of two pieces for seventy-five cents, and the police think one of them was the $13,500 emerald brooch. Louis showed his necklace to his father and was spanked for spending his money foolishly.

The Jacob's Creek Mine Horror. Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 20.—At six o'clock this morning rescuers had brought eight bodies out of the mine at Jacob's Creek and discovered thirty others lying about in nearby entries to the pit mouth. The mine is of a very gaseous nature and it is very difficult for rescuers to penetrate far into the leads and entries.

There appears to have been but one explosion and after this fire set in, which is believed to have caused the death of some 250 men. Relief parties are being organized in different parts and will endeavor to enter the ill-fated mine from three different sections to search for bodies. Considerable slats and piles of debris were discovered near the entries about 300 yards in the mine, and this is believed to have prevented some men who were found dead near that place from escaping.

Secretary Taft Home. New York, Dec. 20.—Secretary Taft arrived here today on the Hamburg-American liner President Grant. He said: "Under no circumstances shall I discuss political affairs at present. I have had a splendid trip and found that Americans were very welcome in every place I reached."

The secretary was given an enthusiastic welcome, and tug boats and other craft followed the steamer up the bay. After a consultation with the Secretary he and his party were transferred off Liberty Island to the tug which steamed to Jersey City where the secretary expected to take a train for Washington.

The Explosion at Palermo. Palermo, Italy, Dec. 20.—At least a dozen of the injured in yesterday's powder magazine explosion in which 25 persons lost their lives and 100 were hurt are expected to die. Troops are still aiding the police in removing the debris. It is feared more bodies will be found in the wreckage as the work of its removal progresses. The cause of the accident is unknown. The explosion occurred in the plant of the Ajel Arms Factory and the fire which followed is still burning. Four hotels and several houses have been destroyed. Thirty bodies had been recovered at noon.

Fire in a Hotel. New York, Dec. 20.—A fire in the new Grand Hotel today which for a time threatened the building's destruction gave the several hundred guests of the hotel the scare of their lives and incidentally caused the hasty departure of scores from their rooms in attire which would have shamed a ghost-walk. When word finally reached the lobby that the fire was out the panicky guests fled back to their rooms.

Ravages of Scarlet Fever. Stenbenville, O., Dec. 20.—Penobscott, W. Va., a little mining village seven miles from here, has been deserted as the result of a scarlet fever scourge. Sixteen deaths have occurred in the past two weeks. Four children in one family died inside of twelve hours. Unable to induce well people to care for the sick, residents who were able to do so locked their houses and left the town.

Banker Shot. New York, Dec. 20.—James H. Olyphant, of the stock exchange firm of James H. Olyphant & Co., was shot this afternoon in his office by a customer. The man who did the shooting immediately turned the revolver on himself and died in a few minutes. Mr. Olyphant has been hurried to the Hudson street hospital in an ambulance.

Mitchell Stricken. Indianapolis, Dec. 20.—John Mitchell is seriously ill. A physician and priest have been sent for. He will probably die. Efforts were made to keep secret the conditions of the miners' leader. He was taken to his room in the Claypool Hotel and Dr. Hodges sent for. Mitchell is not a Catholic, but his wife and members of his family are.

Demand Shah's Abdication.

Teheran, Persia, Dec. 20.—The constitutionalists are viciously demanding the Shah's abdication today. The national assembly is not in session, but the people are again in possession of the barricades which surround the body's meeting place and defy the troops to route them.

When the assembly reconvenes tomorrow there is a strong probability that a formal demand will be made on the ruler to guarantee observance of the constitution or quit the throne. The reactionary party, outnumbered, is yet threatening an attack on the foe. The troops have barely prevented several clashes, and the constitutionalists fear the military may at any time join in an attempt to rush barricades. Yesterday's attempt at a settlement seems completely to have failed.
